Party Hunts Survivors of Viking Ship Blast

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., March 20.—The Viking disaster "mercy plane," enroute from Boston to St. John's N. B., with Bernt Balchen at the controls passed the Isle of Shoals ten miles off the New Hampshire coast at 11:30 a. m. and headed seaward off the adjoining main coastline.

Owing to the "low ceiling" the amphibian was flying less than a thousand feet above the Atlantic.

BOSTON, Mass.—Bound on an errand of mercy and daring icy gales raging over the North Atlantic the Viking disaster-rescue relief aeroplane carrying Bernt Balchen, famous Polar birdman, and two flying companions took off at 10:52 a. m. today on a thousand mile dash to the Arctic.

The giant amphibian was due in St. John's 400 miles away in approximately four hours according to estimates.

Roy Gates, another airman had planned to make the air trek into the Arctic ice, was to search for survivors or bodies of survivors of the Viking but at the eleventh hour it was announced that he was not going.

If men of the sealing ship are found alive food, medical supplies and blankets will be dropped by means of parachutes then the amphibian will make quick contact with one of the rescue steamers in the vicinity.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Mar. 20.—With 127 survivors of the destroyed sealing ship Viking safe aboard rescue ships near Horse Island, the last hope for finding of 28 missing members of the Vartic Frissell film expedition in Newfoundland's ice-jammed region was centered today on a projected air expedition organized in Boston.

Rescue parties from three sealers dragged food and medical supplies over five miles of treacherous ice to the hungry victims sheltered in five fishermen's huts on the bleak shore, but further clues as to the fate of Frissell and A. G. Penrod, his assistant, were not available.

Doctors administered first aid to those injured in Sunday's blast.

SEALER SINKS

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, March 20.—Only a few miles from the spot where the sealing ship Viking exploded with a loss of 20 lives while on a motion picture expedition, another sealing vessel foundered and sank today. All members of the crew were rescued.

Taunting Notes Goad Police
On In Hunt for Girl-Slayer

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 20.—Goaded on by three taunting notes presumably written by the slayer of 10-year-old Virginia Brooks police today began a search for two more suspects in their vigorous attempt to solve the perplexing mystery.

Names of the two suspects were not revealed, but search for the pair was begun shortly after receipt of a third mysterious note signed "The Gorilla."

The note, crudely pencilled in brown wrapping paper read:

"I have defied your experts—ha ha!"

"Another girl will disappear within a week. Virginia was attacked before death and not after."

placed against some 30 prisoners held in solitary confinement as the ringleaders of Wednesday's revolt in the new Stateville penitentiary which was not quelled until seven new buildings had been burned down at a loss of nearly $1,000,000.

Fire in the ruins of the machine shop was still smoldering today as national guardsmen, with bayonets ready for action, guarded the walls and interior of the prison. The cell blocks, some of them overcrowded with prisoners, were comparatively quiet due to the national guard and state police, but a sullen resentment was still apparent in the attitude of the convicts.

The 4,702 prisoners, hungry for two days since the kitchen, bakery and dining hall were destroyed in the fire which raged in Wednesday's rebellion, were grumbling for food. The problem of feeding the prisoners now since the stores were destroyed and the kitchen fired presented a serious problem to the administration.

U. S. Attorney Charges Hungarian with Plan to Wreck New Dirigible

ARRESTED AT AKRON

Paul Kassay Made Statement to Workers, Claim

BULLETIN
AKRON, O., Mar. 20.—Paul F. Kassay, 37, mechanical expert for Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation, who federal officials say planned the destruction of the new Navy dirigible, the "Akron," now under construction here, pleaded not guilty to a charge of criminal syndicalism when arraigned in municipal court here today.

The accused man asked for a preliminary hearing, which was set for tomorrow by Municipal Judge Frank Harvey. Judge Harvey placed Kassay under bond of $25,000.

AKRON, O., March 20.—Allegedly admitting that he planned the destruction of the ZRS-4, the United States Navy dirigible which is under construction here, Paul F. Kassay, mechanical expert for Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation and one-time officer in the Austro-Hungarian navy, was held in Akron city prison today.

Kassay, charged with criminal syndicalism, was arrested at his home by Akron police at the request of Federal officials. He was held in lieu of $25,000 bond, awaiting action of federal authorities.

Admission that he intended to wreck the ship came after he had been questioned for more than five hours by federal officials, according to assistant Summit-co prosecutor George R. Hargreaves.

In a statement after the questioning, Hargreaves said Kassay had confessed to a plan to enter the control room of the giant airship, the largest dirigible ever built, shortly before its maiden flight and see that it did not take the air. Kassay, who began work on the Zeppelin last June, also admitted that he attempted to weaken the ship by omitting rivets in the framework and that he was connected with the Communist party, the Summit-co official stated.

Federal officials, headed by Assistant United States District Attorney William F. McDermott of Cleveland, today were confronted with the problem of determining whether any other persons were associated with Kassay in his sabotage plans.

A search of Kassay's home following his arrest resulted in the discovery of a quantity of Communist literature, a picture of the airship, known as the "Akron," and several letters. Kassay's wife, Mrs. Gorda Kassay, also was questioned by officials.

Mrs. Kassay told investigators that she and her husband were married 12 years ago and came to this country after the World War. Kassay was naturalized in 1926, she said. The Kassays have one daughter, who is now visiting in Cleveland.

G. O. P. LEADER
FOUND GUILTY

Harry Arnold, of Columbus, Chairman, Pays Fine For Possession of Liquor.

COLUMBUS, O., March 20.—Convicted yesterday on charges of illegal possession of liquor by a federal court jury. Harry C. Arnold, chairman of the Franklin co Republican executive committee, today called a meeting of the county party organization to select a candidate for his vacated place on the county board of election.

Arnold resigned from the board of elections within 15 minutes after the jury's verdict was brought in but declared that he had no intention of giving up his place as head of the county Republican executive committee and proved it by promptly announcing today's meeting.

The verdict was followed at once by Judge Benson W. Hough's ruling that Arnold's fine would be $100, which includes costs of the trial.

Although Arnold did not go on the stand during the trial, his attorney James M. Linton, contended that liquor found in the board of elections warehouse belonged to Arnold's son, Harold Arnold, and not to the board of elections officials.

Linton said the older Arnold admitted owning the liquor only to shield his son. Linton was not certain today whether an appeal would be filed in his client's case. Harold S. Wilkins, former city clerk, was expected to be recommended by Republicans for Arnold's place on the board of elections.

COURT ARE SET

Judge Adkins Says Court Docket Will be Reduced During the April Term

MANY ARE PENDING

Chandler Will be Tried For Auto Theft, April 6

Many cases are expected to be cleared up in Pickaway-co common pleas court docket during the April term of court, according to Judge J. W. Adkins, who Friday set dates for hearing of several cases and announced to attorneys to decide on dates for other cases. Thus far several cases have been definitely assigned, and others will be assigned when attorneys agree on dates.

The first case set down is for Tuesday March 24, when the case of W. Byron Frederick against J. Edward Renick and others will start. This is an equity case, in which the plaintiff claims he is entitled to part of an estate which the defendants allegedly refuse to grant. Barton Walters is attorney for the plaintiff and Abernethy and Simkins for the defendants.

TO TRY CHANDLER

Trial of Ted Chandler, now confined in the county jail, charged by the state of stealing an auto belonging to Max Friedman, E. Hill-st., this city, will get underway, Monday, April 6. E. L. Crist, prosecutor for the state, and Stephen Lamb, for the defendant, are attorneys.

The case of Omer Fagan, near S. Bloomfield, against Max Friedman, in which the plaintiff claims damages sustained in an auto stolen north of the city, has been set down for April 20, 21 and 22.

Other cases on the docket, which as yet, have not been assigned are expected to be cleared up in the April term are: Trustees of Deerpark-twp against John Hoffman of Deerpark-twp for damages; Adkins and Adkins for the defendant; Lacy A. Gates against Henry Dennison, on motion; Charles W. May for the plaintiff and C. A. Weldon for the defendant; Henry Dennison against William E. Dennison and others, cancellation of a deed and equity.

C. A. Weldon, attorney for the plaintiff and C. A. Leist for the defendant; Albert E. Schleich, executor of the estate of the late William Hulse against Ellen Hulse and others, construction of a will; Barton Walters for the plaintiff; in relation to the Wilson L. Peters estate for hearing, equity, E. B. Weaver, for the plaintiff; E. B. Davis, H. E. construction of a will, jury trial, has been set for April 27. Adkins and Adkins for the plaintiff and I. F. Snyder for the defendant.

STUMP CASE

Jennie Stump against Mary Morgan, concerning assets of the estate of the late A. L. Stump; C. A. Leist for the plaintiff and Abernethy and Simkins for the defendant; Mansfield Firemen Co. against H. M. Crites and Co., on motion C. A. Weldon for the plaintiff and C. H. Gerhardt for the defendant; Huntington National Bank against William J. Green, on motion, Charles H. May, for the plaintiff.

Unless many more cases are brought forth, the grand jury will probably not convene early in April according to Judge Adkins. Thus far there are but few cases for the grand jury to take up. However the April term grand jury will be drawn, so they might be ready when called at anytime. The grand jury ordinarily convenes April 6, but will not, unless many more cases are brought for the grand jury to decide. The case of Ted Chandler, charged with auto theft is set down for this date.

Upsets Feature Class Tourney

Circleville high school inter-class tourney continued at the high school Thursday afternoon and evening with several games yet to be played. Every game was close from start to finish and surprises were listed. Junior girls completely upset the dope, when they defeated the sophomore girls, who were picked as favorites to win the tourney. This game was the closest game yet to be played on the court in the first round. The score was 6-5, and was one battle royal from start to finish. Sophomore boys, who competed in two games during the day broke even by winning one and losing one.

They defeated their upperclassmen, the seniors in a game earlier in the day, but probably due to fatigue had to bow to defeat at the hands of the juniors, who are winners of the first round for boys. The third year lads have defeated every other class, and are much talked of, as easy favorites for the tourney championship. Jack Heeter and Joe Glitt referee the boys' games and John Heiskell and Cuz Dumm handle the girls' contests.

Following is a summary, and lineup of the games played Thursday:

SOPHOMORE 17; SENIOR 9 (BOYS)

Turning the tables on their opponents, who defeated them sometime ago in a close fracas, sophomore boys defeated the seniors by the score of 17-9. The game belonged to the sophomores from start to finish, as the fourth year lads were played off thier. The second year lads held a lead over their upper-classmen at the end of every quarter, and were not once threatened by the seniors. Laughlin was high for the winners and Goeller of the seniors contributed seven of the nine points for his team.

SUGGESTS MORE POWER PER MAN

Spring costs on the farm may oftentimes be cut by performing two operations in one trip around the field, according to C. O. Reed, agricultural engineer at the Ohio State University, who states that frequently savings may be made in power and labor costs by placing more power under the direction of one man.

In a recent investigation, he says, it was found that the two-horse walking plow turned an average of 1.9 acres per 10-hour day, while with three horses and a sulky plow the average day's work was 2.4 acres.

By attaching a spike tooth harrow section on a gang plow, the power and time required to drag a field in a good state of tilth may be eliminated. A study of 25 farms in Medina-co shows that harrowing costs about 93 cents per acre. It takes a man about 1.3 hours to harrow an acre. If this labor is worth approximately 25 cents an hour, the labor cost for harrowing one acre would be about 31 cents. The horse labor per acre was found to cost 61 cents. In a 20-acre field a savor or 93 cents per acre would result in a total reduction in the cost of preparing the seedbed amounting to $18.60. However, Reed points out, the best results can be accomplished if the spike tooth harrow is attached to a three-bottom gang plow. It is best to offset the harrow section so that it will harrow the crowns just after the furrow slices are turned.

Sometimes savings may be made by attaching a spike tooth harrow and planter on the rear of a disc harrow or behind a cultipacker in the final preparation of the seedbed.

The larger fields may be worked more economically than small ones he asserts. It has been found that in one county 1.8 acres were turned per 10-hour day in fields of less than 5 acres; in fields of more than 15 acres the average day's plowing with horses was 2.5 acres.

REPORT RIFT IN DEMPSEY FAMILY

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Mar. 7.—There has been no rift in the marital peace of Estelle Taylor and Jack Dempsey, the motion picture actress emphatically stated today.

Miss Taylor admitted that they had a slight family difference before Dempsey left for Salt Lake City to referee a prize fight. Reports of that results in a rumor that Miss Taylor was to seek a Paris divorce.

"It was just a little family affair and anyone who thinks I am going to get a divorce is silly," said the actress. "I am going to Europe this summer, yes, but to study singing."

Detroit Boss Makes Change

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—Manager Bucky Harris of the Detroit Tigers is planning on a berth in the first division while some of his contemporaries, notably Connie Mack, believe the young manager will have a team with pennant contending possibilities.

Mack says he expects Washington and Detroit to be his 1931 rivals for the right to play in the World Series.

There is little question that the Tigers, who finished the 1930 season in fifth place is a first division club. They finished the season below 500 but what has been overlooked is that the club played 600 ball from the Fourth of July to the end of the season. They went from the Fourth of July to the last week in August, losing only two series. They played such remarkable ball despite the lack of an outfielder batting 300 and with Gene Desautels, a college boy, as the regular catcher.

Contrary to public belief, the Tigers have one of the strongest pitching staffs in the league. On a team that finished below 500, Sorrell won 18 games and Whitehill 17 with average near the 600 mark.

Uhl won 12 and lost 12, six of his losses coming in a row in June by one run. Those losses came at a time when three outfielders were averaging 250. Rogell was at short with a .114 average and two of the Tiger stars, Alexander and Gehring, were in the worst slump of their careers with 270 averages. It was this same inexplicable slump that kept the Tigers out of the first division last year. Despite the Tigers' season average of 3 games below 500, Harris' 7 starting pitchers, averaged above 500.

Harris expects a lot from Hoyt, who is in perfect physical shape and the announced intention of winning at least 15 games this season.

Harris is spending most of his time on the outfield, trying to develop a trio of hitters. He believes he has solved the catching deficiency, for the year, at least, with Wallie Schang and John Grabowski, American League veterans.

It would not be startling in the least if Harris started the season with two recruits in the outfield. An entirely new set is not beyond possibility.

Funk, Johnson and Stone, the 1930 regulars, may find themselves on the bench, should three of five spectacular rookies continue to show the form they have displayed thus far. Stone, by a great spurt, was the only outfielder to reach 300 last year.

The Walker brothers, Kubbie and Gerald, a colorful pair, who played with Evansville in the Three Eye League last year, have shown some remarkable hitting and leading ability thus far as has Frank Doljack, a Wheeling recruit, who led his league with a .391 average.

Doljack played 20 games with the Tigers at the end of the 1930 season and made a startling impression with his fielding and remarkable throwing arm.

The Walkers batted at the head of their league, Gerald with a .378 average and Hubble, .355. They also have remarkable base stealing records.

Also trying for an outfield berth are Ivey Shiver and Oscar Eckhardt, Beaumont stars. Eckhardt led his league with a .390 average. Shiver was an All-American end and batted 304 last season.

The infield is practically a settled affair with Alexander at first, Gehring at second, McManus at third and Akers or Koenig at short.

MANY VEGETABLES FOR OHIO GARDENS

Sweet roasting ears, fresh tender lettuce, and young table beets are only a few of the 32 kinds of vegetables grown in Ohio farm gardens, says E. R. Lancashire, extension specialist in horticulture at the Ohio State University.

Among the early vegetables that should be planted as soon as the soil can be worked, he says, are radishes, lettuce, carrots, early turnips, cabbage, kohlrabi, early Irish potatoes, peas, onion sets, and seed, beets, parsnips, salsify, spinach, and parsley.

A trial planting of Golden Bantam corn may usually be planted immediately after the first planting of peas, radishes, and lettuce. To insure a continuous supply until October frosts it is best to plant sweet corn about every week or 10 days until July 4.

Melon patches are far too few in number in the farm garden, Lancashire believes. A small plot in the corn field or at the edge of the garden, liberally fertilized and dusted for insect and disease control will produce abundantly. Some of the best varieties of muskmelons are Tip Top and Bender's Surprise. Kieckly Sweet and Halbert's honey are good varieties of watermelons to plant in Ohio.

Melons that taste like pumpkins are not the result of cross fertilization in the vegetable garden, he says. Healthy melon and pumpkin vines can safely be grown side by side in the garden. However, if a cucumber beetle bites a cucumber vine or a melon plant, the result is usually a wilted plant just about the time the first crop is ready to harvest.

State Divisions Again Jumbled

COLUMBUS, O.—Sugary-coated invitations to what is expected to be the wildest and loudest political rough-and-tumble in a decade were issued today by the state senate's sub-committee on congressional redistricting.

Having skeptically and resignedly approved the gerrymandering plan of Senator Laurence H. Norton (R) of Cleveland, the committee with little optimism prepared for a public hearing on the plan to be held at a joint meeting of house and senate redistricting

Ohio Girl's Lucky Day

THREE candles! And each one represents a year of joyous living. Betty Jane Glenn, of 7031 Zoeter Ave., Cleveland, is a typical Fig Syrup baby. Here is what her mother says:

"My druggist told me about California Fig Syrup, and when Betty Jane became constipated we got some for her. It relieved her constipation immediately, sweetened her breath, made her bright and happy again."

"I have also used Fig Syrup for her colds and upsets. It has kept her strong and vigorous."

For fifty years, wise mothers have been secure in the knowledge that a child's headache, bilious, feverish or fretful spells can be quickly and safely overcome by California Fig Syrup. Physicians recommend its soothing aid to keep the bowels clear in colds or children's ailments; or whenever bad breath, coated tongue, or listlessness warn of constipation.

California Fig Syrup helps tone and strengthen weak bowels—assists in building-up and energizing weak children. The genuine always bears the name California. All drugstores.

Fierly criticism from politicians from all over the state is expected to be poured into the hearing, but the committee hopes that the Norton plan will arouse the state to fewer expletives of censure than any other proposals that have been offered.

The principal point of attack, it was predicted, will be the distortion of districts that was necessary to bring about the change.

Complete reshaping of the district around Canton was one of the most noticeable changes provided by Norton. Stark, Carroll and a slice of southern Summit-co constitute the 16th district under the tentative arrangement. The old 16th district contained Stark, Wayne, Holmes and Tuscarawas.

Tuscarawas, which the gerrymanders admitted they didn't know how to handle, was made the neck of the bottle-shaped 15th which under the Norton plan would include Washington, Morgan, Monroe, Noble, Guernsey, and Muskingum.

Republicans succeeded in preventing three Democratic counties—Richland, Ashland, and Holmes—from being included in one district. Richland and Ashland were put into entirely foreign territory. With Medina, Wayne, Lorain, they would become the 17th.

True to previously-expressed expectations, Seneca was tentatively amputated from the 13th and Ottawa and that part of Lucas outside of Toledo were added.

This change would, it was believed, have an important effect on the possible congressional ambitions of two well-known state legislators.

Whatever plans Senator Robert I. Rohe, (R) of Tiffin might have would no longer be in conflict with those of Former Senate President Pro Tem Allen G. Aigler (R) of Bellevue because their two counties—Seneca and Huron—would be separated.

Rohe's opponent would probably be Congressman Grant Mouser, (R) of Marion, as Seneca would be added to the eighth district of Marion, Crawford, Wyandot, Hardin, Hancock, Morrow and Unioncos, the latter being removed from the present seventh.

Allen, Mercer and Auglaize would be joined to Williams, Fulton, Defiance, Henry, Paulding, Putnam and Van Wert in a district made up of half the northwestern edge state.

Other alterations proposed by Norton's program are:

Addition of Coshocton, Delaware, Holmes and Knox-cos to Fairfield, Perry and Hocking forming the 11th district of 256,880 persons.

Removal of Portsmouth and the remainder of Scioto-co from the present sixth district to the present tenth district to the eastward.

Placing of Greene in unfamiliar territory with Fayette, Pickaway, Ross, Pike, Madison and Franklin outside of Columbus to compose the seventh.

Placing of Ravenna and Portage-cos in a district with Mahoning-co in an attempt to give the Youngstown section a district practically its own.

The loss of Carroll from the 18th, made up of Columbiana, Jefferson, Harrison and Belmont, without replacing it.

Granting of a single seat to Akron and vicinity in Summit-co and the addition of Cuyahoga-co, now represented by only two.

The average population of districts created by Norton's plan would be 280,000, although in Cuyahoga each congressman would speak for almost 300,000.

Prospective congressmen who want to make sure that their sections will not be dismembered so as to prevent their elections were expected today to raise most of the objections to the plan when it is given a hearing.

The Norton plan was approved by the sub-committee without Senator Charles J. Anderson (R) of Shelby, the chairman, who has been unable to attend a session this week.

A few of the outstanding features at the recent funeral for a New York (N. Y.) bootlegger, who was killed by rival gangsters, were: A $10,000 bronze casket, 40 automobiles filled with flowers, 85 detectives and policemen, 110 chauffeurs and 3 priests. Thousands of curious persons viewed the cortege.

When Mrs. Veronica Ward, of Bloomfield, N. J., applied for a divorce, she averred that her husband not only hurled chinaware and shoes at her, but also turned the bed, in which she was asleep, upside down.

Although he was terribly and probably fatally burned when he was converted into a human torch by the explosion of a gasoline lamp 27-year-old Arthur Auble ran from his Montour Falls, N. Y. home and extinguished the blaze by rolling in the snow.

Construction to Assist Business

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
Copyright, 1931, by International News Service.

NEW YORK—America's long anticipated business revival is about to begin - - - if, indeed, it hasn't already started - - - and the construction industry is leading the way.

This was the declaration of Charles F. Abbott, executive director of the American institute of steel construction, in an interview today. He has just returned from an extended trip around the country, looking over the business situation in New Orleans, Dallas, Phoenix, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Portland, Ore., Denver, Omaha, St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit and other cities.

"Pessimism is fast disappearing," Mr. Abbott reported. "The country has buckled down and gone to work. We are entering a new cycle of industrial activity."

"Only in New York, Chicago and Detroit did I find evidences of pronounced depression. Detroit has recovered from that feeling because the automobile business has since picked up in great shape. Chicago and New York, being financial centers, have been 'holding the bag' in the matter of price recessions, and naturally grew very pessimistic. Then, too, it was the big cities like New York and Chicago that chiefly felt the unemployment situation. But both of these cities are now snapping out of it."

Abbott exuded optimism as he sat at his desk in a New York office building and described the "inherently sound" condition of the country. Only a week ago he visited Washington and made a report on the situation to President Hoover. What he said in the interview today was virtually what he told the president.

"I left New York in January and everybody was depressed," said Mr. Abbott. "I was surprised to find in New Orleans that $268,000,000 worth of construction was under way in that section; that retail trade was active; that there was no spirit of depression and that the city was not worried over the unemployment problem."

"At Dallas, Texas, I found there was $45,000,000 worth of construction under way. The hotels were crowded; retail trade was normal and there was no unemployment problem there."

"Considerable building was going on in and near Phoenix, Arizona, and the hotels were full. In Los Angeles the building was not so active but projects were pending that would stimulate the situation. There was some unemployment due to the winter influx of strangers. Business in the retail stores was beginning to pick up, however."

Swinging up to San Francisco, Mr. Abbott found that a number of important building projects were going forward, including the Golden Gate bridge - - a project that will bring employment to an army of men.

"In Portland and Seattle," Mr. Abbott continued, "conditions were normal. Business prospects in the northwest are good."

"I found that Denver had no unemployment problem and that construction prospects were fine. The building inspector there told me there would be $40,000,000 worth of construction in Denver this year."

"Colorado, in fact, is singularly fortunate. The contract for the Hoover dam in Colorado has just been let. This is a $48,000,000 project. It will be twice as large as the largest dam in the world. They've got to build a city at Boulder City, Colorado, to house the army of workers that will be required. It will require large quantities of steel, cement, etc., and will take ten years to complete."

"In Omaha conditions are normal, with prospects good for the future even though the farmers in that region have been hit rather hard."

"Chicago has a big construction program planned, including the building of subways and the construction of a huge post-office. In Detroit the automobile business is improving steadily and a distinct feeling of optimism has developed there to replace the pessimism of a few months ago."

Mr. Abbott is a member of President Hoover's emergency committee for employment. He has been actively identified with the national council of traveling salesmen's association, which embraces a membership of 9,000 salesmen, and he is the past president of the American society of sales executives. In addition, he is one of the foremost steel executives in the country.

NEGRI DIVORCE IS WITH

PARIS, March 1.—The divorce brought by Pola Negri, film star, against Prince Mdivani.

Neither Miss Negri nor the Prince were present when the divorce was called for trial. The actress' lawyer pleaded "indisposition" on the part of the Prince as basis for the action, citing Pola's willingness to abandon the divorce action and resume marital relations but charging Mdivani had refused to do so.

CONTEST OF AGES CONTINUES AT LUTHERAN BROTHERHOOD

The fourth number of the "Contest of Ages" was put on last evening by Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood, the performers being the members between the ages of fifty and sixty years, with E. E. Wolf and J. D. Hummel as directors.

There was about one hundred and fifty present and the interest was at an exceptionally high pitch.

The business session was short, after which the lunch committee of which Chester Wolf was chairman, served hot roast beef sandwiches, cheese, pickles and coffee.

President J. R. Noecker announced the troop committee for the Boy Scout Troop that is being sponsored by the Brotherhood. Arthur Barthelmas was named as chairman, R. L. Brehmer, education; E. E. Wolf, finance; Geo. C. Griffith, activities and E. C. Ebert, publicity.

This committee will meet in the near future and choose a scout master and assistant and get the matter under way.

President Noecker then turned the meeting over to the directors of the 50-60 contest group. The first feature was the "Parade of the Talent" that went over big and clinched the attention of the audience from the very start. Each member of the group characterized his profession, work or some hobby, and as each appeared upon the scene, was introduced by Edw. Sensenbrenner, after which the entire group told the judges and audience their intention in their opening chorus, "We'll Put 'er Over." No attention was given to presence of the judges up to this time, when a heated argument was started that it might be best to give them some recognition so they were then called out of the audience and after some discussion, were seated on one of those old-time worm fences, with the sharp side of the rails upward.

Edward H. Blum was then introduced and scored very highly on "Post Office Information." The group decided at this time that the judges had been imposed upon and that they should be unseated and made comfortable, so, after some discussion they were made comfortable for the balance of the evening.

Mrs. Victoria Schoeller of Columbus was a business visitor in Circleville, Thursday.

J. D. Hummel then characterized the "Little Brown Jug" in song, the entire group joining in the chorus.

E. E. Wolf next came to the front and told himself proud in his talk on "Some Things You Should Know."

The next was a novelty number, on the triple kazoo, by William May, and brought down the house.

In fitting attire, R. D. Good characterized "The Village Blacksmith," bringing back those days when coming home from school, we stood by the open door and heard the bellows roar and the sparks fly from the anvil like chaff from the threshing floor.

J. D. Hummel next recited "The First Settler's Story," by Will Carlton; responding to an encore by giving Douglas Mallock's poem entitled "To-Day."

That there is still much latent talent in the brotherhood was forcibly brought out in the rendition of the next number, when Frank H. Palm as soloist sang "Go Tell Aunt Rosy," this number scored very highly on uniqueness and effect upon the audience.

Wayne A. Hoover, as Mayor of Fox P. O. was next presented and recited "The Railroad Crossing," responding to a very generous encore by telling a very interesting and entertaining skit in which he involved the old district school, one of their former school masters, storekeeper Uncle Jim Trimble and his good friend George Fischer. He made quite a hit with the audience and unquestionably the judges gave him a high score.

Edward Sensenbrenner chose as his topic "Zigzagging," thus taking in latitude enough that he might be at liberty to say whatever he chose about the audience, the contesting groups or the judges, without getting beyond the bounds of his subject. Mr. Sensenbrenner was at his best and is entitled to much credit for the score that the judges marked up for the 50-60 group.

Seriously the program was brought to a fitting close by the entire group singing "How Can I Leave Thee." Carl Palm played the piano accompaniment for all musical numbers.

The judges of the contest are E. L. Daley, supervisor of the grades of the City schools; S. T. Rife, instructor of history, City schools; Ferd Pickens, clerk of courts; J. Wiley Fetherlin, dramatic director of City Schools and George McDowell, superintendent of Jackson-twp schools.

The closing number of the contest will be given by the members of the brotherhood between the ages of 60 and 70 years of age.

Bobby Fickardt will spend the week-end in Cincinnati with his aunt, Mrs. William Downs.

Mrs. Estella Morris left for a visit with Professor and Mrs. O. P. Clutts of Greensboro, N. C. Returning she will stop for a visit in Washington D. C. with Mrs. Harriett Stevenson.

Miss Alice Ada May of Ohio State University is spending Spring vacation with her grandmother, Mrs. Alice Hosler of N. Scioto-st. Miss May is recuperating from an attack of bronchitis.

on Thursday evening, April 9. On Thursday evening, April 23, the banquet and entertainment will be given; the teams scoring lowest and second lowest furnishing the banquet; the third and fourth lowest furnishing the programme and the team scoring the highest grade and the judges being the guests of honor.
